Vreeland Measure Dead As Far As The House Committee Goes--New Measure Is Up.

TIME ASKED TO FORMULATE WISHES

All Members Working Hard To Bring About Solution Of The Financial Question--Johnson First Place Or None.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., May 4.—The house committee on banking and currency today voted 12 to 3 to lay the new Vreeland financial bill on the table.

Want Time
Chairman Fowler will today request Speaker Cannon to grant the committee a week for discussion of all pending currency measures.

Sullivan Dead
Thomas J. Sullivan, a director of the bureau of engraving and printing, died here today.

Makes Report
Herbert Knox Smith, Commissioner of Corporations, has made his report to congress in which he explains the manner and methods of the two great cotton exchanges of the country, in New York and New Orleans, in handling this crop and makes some important recommendations to fixing the scale which is used.

Congressmen Work
Leaders among the national lawmakers are decidedly sore, not to say chagrined. Ever since the senate stood by the house in defeating the President's naval program, immediate following which action the chief executive spring another special message on congress, the belief has been gaining ground that Mr. Roosevelt has successfully culminated a political coup that for shrewdness and strategy seldom has been equaled. The gentleman in question long has been accorded the name for being the greatest politician of his time, but the men who pay close heed to the ways and maneuvers of his every move are practically agreed that he has virtually out-generaled Roosevelt—practically broken his own record. For months the ill-feeling existing between the legislative and executive branches of the government has been cropping out almost continually, but of late it has been most intense, and speculation has been rife as to the outcome of the clash which has seemed impending. The President has been very insistent that certain legislation which he deems important be

Musical Organizations to Bring Out side Talent There to Aid Them in the Entertainment.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Beloit, May 4.—The Musical Association of Beloit College is to give an important series of concerts in Beloit the latter part of this week. The festival will be given on Thursday and Friday and will include three concerts. The first, to be given in the Wilson opera-house, will be an orchestra recital by the University of Wisconsin orchestra. The second of the series will be given in the First Congregational church and will be a song cycle by a Chicago quartet composed of Grant Hady, Garnett Hedge, Mrs. Towlebury and Miss Johnson. The last of the series will be on Friday night and will be David's Creation, sung by the association chorus. The coming festival promises to be the most important musical event of the season, being the first thing of its kind attempted in Beloit or vicinity.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Lawrence University, May 4.—Approximately $20,000, of which sum nearly $150 was subscribed by Janeville and Rock county people, was raised up to last Saturday night for the new $50,000 Helen Fairchild-Naylor chapel at Lawrence university, Appleton. One-third of this sum was given by the members of the Lawrence faculty, one-third by Dr. W. S. Naylor and one-third by Wisconsin friends of Lawrence. The aim during the coming week is to raise $5,000 more, increasing the fund to $25,000, which sum will be donated by the Lawrence university board of trustees and a $20,000 structure will be built.

ASSASSINS OF KING TO GO UNPUNISHED

So Many are Implicated That Government will not Bring Prosecutions.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Lisbon, May 4.—The government has completed its investigation into the plot that led to the assassination of King Carlos and the Crown Prince, but it would appear that the conspiracy had so many ramifications and that so many persons of position are other suspected or implicated in it, that it has decided not to bring any prosecutions.

The tournament opens with a reception game tonight and the play will continue until Saturday.

RHODE ISLAND HAS BIG CELEBRATION

In Honor of Anniversary of Declaration of Independence of State.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Providence, R. I., May 4.—Public exercises and observances were held throughout the state today in celebration of the anniversary of the declaration of independence of Rhode Island, the first of the thirteen American colonies to renounce allegiance to the government of Great Britain. The colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations declared itself an independent sovereign government, owing no allegiance to Great Britain, on May 4, 1776, and was the first of the original thirteen colonies to do so. The declaration was the act of the general assembly of the colony and was in principle the same as those which followed from other states.

The new organization proposes to take in all of the existing labor bodies in the state, among them the farmers' union, the various railway brotherhoods, and the different local trade unions.

VANDERBILT DROVE ON PUBLIC COACH

Left London Today on First Regular Trip Over the Brighton Road.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, May 4.—Alfred G. Vanderbilt, whose effort to revive interest in coaching in England has been so sympathetically received, left London today on the first of his regular trips over the Brighton road. A big crowd assembled outside the Victoria hotel, from which point the start was made at eleven o'clock this morning. Half-past five is the hour set for the coach to reach Brighton. The route traversed is fifty-four miles, going by way of Putney Heath, New Malden, and Reigate, where an hour's stop is to be made at the famous White Hart for luncheon. Then on to Crawley, Handcross, Holmby, and Twickenham, to the Hotel Metropole, Brighton.

Mr. Vanderbilt's coach is named the "Venture." It is a gorgeous maroon-colored vehicle, built to carry twelve passengers. Mr. Vanderbilt plans to drive the coach himself four days out of every six in his six weeks' season. The runs from London are to be made on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and the return journeys on the alternate days. The young millionaire believes he can make the coach pay, and is running it with that intention.

BIG FIGHT WILL BE ON IN OHIO DEMOCRAT GATHERING

Every Important Nomination From Governor Down To Be Contested.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Columbus, O., May 4.—Ohio democrats will nominate a complete state ticket, take up the question of a successor to Joseph B. Foraker in the United States senate and select four delegates-at-large to the national convention pledged to William J. Bryan for president, at the state convention to be held in this city this week. The convention will assemble tomorrow evening to dispose of the preliminary business and will complete its work Wednesday. Many of the delegates are already in the city, their early arrival giving evidence of the keen interest in the convention.

All signs point to a lively if not a turbulent gathering. Unless there is an eleventh hour agreement among the party leaders, such as now seems out of the question, there will be contests on the convention floor for every important nomination from governor down.

The attempt of Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland to control the democratic party in Ohio is the point at issue in the contest for the gubernatorial nomination. Judson Harmon of Cincinnati, attorney general in President Cleveland's cabinet, has consented to accept the gubernatorial nomination if it should be offered him. A few weeks ago Mr. Harmon refused to permit the use of his name. He was then counted a democratic presidential possibility. Opponents of Mayor Johnson, who had been capturing for his gubernatorial candidacy, Allen Pomeroy of Canton, Indiana Harmon to enter the race and today they insist they can nominate him and defeat Johnson's aspirations to control in Ohio. George J. Karb of this county has been picked on for lieutenant governor on the Harmon ticket.

A big fight is in prospect on the question of an endorsement of a candidate for the United States senate. Some are insisting that the convention must endorse a candidate, while others are determined to fight such a course. Former Governor James A. Campbell is making a hot fight for the senatorship. So is M. E. Ingalls, the Cincinnati railroad magnate, who is financing the fight against Tom L. Johnson.

The platform will also prove a troublesome problem for the convention. The liquor question will be the bone of contention. From the rural sections especially comes the warning that there will be revolt if any attempt is made to follow the lead suggested by the German-American alliance in its campaign for "personal liberty."

INTEREST AROUSED IN MURDER TRIAL

Whitlow to Be Tried for Murder in Allen County, Kansas,
This Week.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Jola, Kan., May 4.—The whole of Allen county is displaying a lively interest in the forthcoming trial of Samuel F. Whitlow, the alleged murderer of Miss May Sapp. The case will be the star attraction at the May term of court. The attorneys for the defense have perfected their plans for the trial. They claim to be in possession of recently discovered evidence which will prove the innocence of their client.

CHARGES EXTORTION AGAINST A LAWYER

Rich New York Lawyer's Trial Was Called Today in General Sessions.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, May 4.—The case of Carl Fischer-Hansen, millionaire lawyer and philanthropist, was called for trial today in the court of general sessions. Hansen is charged with extortion and it is said there are likely to be sensational revelations at the trial. It is alleged Hansen compelled a Philadelphia businessman to pay him $15,000 to prevent the latter being brought to trial on an infamous allegation in which a boy figured. Hansen declares that he took a retainer from this man and later abandoned him. The case was not discovered that there were wide ramifications to it involving New York and Philadelphia men of prominence in the social and business world.

CALENDAR CALLED IN CIRCUIT COURT

Only Two of Five Applicants For Full Citizenship Qualified—Peterson vs. Warner Case Dismissed.
The calendar for the May term of the circuit court was called this afternoon and the jurors are returnable next Monday. Applications for second naturalization papers were denied to August William Blank and Henry Carl Schmelling, both natives of Germany, on the ground that they were not of age when their first papers were taken out. Owing to the sickness of a witness the case of Nels Olson Karve of Norway was continued. Henry Kueck and Frank Fischer, both natives of Germany, were admitted.

Divorce Case Today
The divorce case of Dr. Coleman L. Hoffman of Beloit vs. Sarah Olivia Hoffman of Iowa City, Ia., is on trial this afternoon. The action is brought on grounds of desertion and cruel and inhuman treatment and the defendant has filed a cross-bill alleging the same things. Atty. T. D. Wolan represents the plaintiff and Nolan, Adams & Reeder are counsel for the defendant.

In Justice Court
In Justice Charles Lange's court the action of P. K. Peterson vs. Sam Warner, brought by the plaintiff to recover for the rental of a gasoline illuminating system which he installed in the Warner barbershop and pool room on trial, has been dismissed at the request of the plaintiff. The latter will bear the costs in Judge Tallman's court from which it was taken on a change of venue. The defendant stood ready to file a big counter claim for damages alleged to have been done to his establishment by the lighting plant.

BURR JONES MAKES A DECISION TODAY

Madison Attorney Gives His Ideas of the Law in Racine Railway Case.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Racine, Wis., May 4.—Attorney Burr Jones of Madison, who was engaged as assistant counsel to the city attorney of this city with reference to the franchise of the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light company with this city, returned an opinion this morning favorable to the city. The original franchise was granted in 1883. It expires on the 27th of this month. The street-car company claims that the franchise was an intermittent one, but the city of Racine is of the adverse opinion. Attorney Jones was called in as an expert and now decides in favor of the city. A consultation will be held with General Manager Dodge of Milwaukee and Racine officials and it is hoped some kind of a compromise may be reached.

Was Only Annoying
A carefree bicyclist came careening down Milwaukee street last Sunday shortly after noon, struck a little child at the corner of the intersection and went off very angry to think his pleasure had been interrupted.

BAD RUNAWAY NEAR
CITY HALL SUNDAY

Branch was frightened by Interurban Car and Ferdinand Shoemaker and His Son Were Thrown Out.

Ferdinand Shoemaker and his son were thrown out of a buggy and given a bad shaking up in the vicinity of the city hall shortly after eleven o'clock yesterday morning. They were driving a branch west on Wall street when the 110 Interurban car came along and gave the animal a bad fright. It headed into the alley which runs in the rear of the city hall, and as the buggy cleared the gutter with a bang, the elder Shoemaker pitched headlong to the sidewalk and had a check nut open by the contact.
The young man was tossed out as the branch turned into the narrow passageway on the south side of the building and ran into a piano box in the rear of C. Condon's store. This collision stopped the animal's progress and enabled bystanders to capture it.
Neither Mr. Shoemaker nor his son sustained anything more serious than flesh wounds. The vehicle was badly wrecked.

SUMMER CAMPAIGNS
OF CHEESE FACTORIES

Southwestern Wisconsin Establishments Ready for the Work of the Year.

Monroe, Wis., May 4.—Cheese factories are beginning to open up throughout the foreign cheese district of Southwestern Wisconsin. A few of the factories opened as early as two weeks ago but the large number will be started this week. Factories are good and as the old stock of limburger and brick cheese has been entirely sold out the season opens with a good demand for the small cheese. The collars of dealers are still well supplied with Swiss and black cheese and as this variety of cheese will not be made until later in the season there is possibility of all old cheese being marketed before the new stock is ready for the market. The past season was one of record breaking prices but a slump that followed the money stringency proved disastrous, greatly reducing the profits made in the earlier part of the season. The number of cheese factories operated keeps growing with every season.

J. Henry Elmer, who was employed as cheesemaker in Mount Pleasant

LIGHTHOUSES ON KOSHKONONG LAKE

Lack of Them Denoted by Crew of
"Algonquin" Who Were Lost for Three Hours Last Night.

Frank B. Granger, Sam Behlin, E.
V. Whitton, Arthur Granger, Victor Whitton, Herbert Ford, Harry McMan-n, Alferman, George Hincholoh, Edward Peterson, and Wallace Cochran were among the Janesville visitors at Lake Koshkonong yesterday.
There was only an occasional puff of wind on the lake during the afternoon and the sailing vessel "Algonquin" and her crew were becalmed by the time Sullivan's bay and had to be towed ashore by a launch. Putting out for the southeast end of the lake by starlight and with no home beacons to guide them, the mariners were compelled to tack against a brisk headwind and rounded up on the second leg of the voyage somewhere near Newville and at least a mile further away from their anchorage. Three hours were devoted to careful exploration of every bay on the southeast coast and at the end of that time, just as the mariners were beginning to fear that they were helplessly lost and would have to thrust about until daylight, the familiar outlines of the beacon port finally loomed in view.
Under the owners of Blenheim's and Pierce's Point can be persuaded to erect lighthouses, the "Algonquin" will hereafter ride peacefully at anchor, after nightfall. Dave Brown's employment at Koshkonong station is crowded day and night and he is already the most popular man in that locality.

HIS TALE OF HUNGER
BELIEVED BY COURT

Pole Who Was Arrested in Act of Breaking into Spelman Cigar Store Was Released Today.

Frank Rotman, the Pole who was captured by Officer Morrissey while in the act of wriggling through an aperture he had opened in the rear door of J. L. Spelman's cigar store, was released this morning and allowed to go his way under a suspended sentence. Clarence Nowak, the interpreter, agreed to take him to Salvation Army headquarters and see if some sort of employment could not be obtained for him. I am inclined to believe that he has been telling the truth, in the main, and I don't feel like sending him to prison for a year for telling the minimum sentence, for trying to get food when he was starving," said Judge Einfeld. When the tentative offer of liberty was made to the man on condition that he obtain work and molest other people's property no more, he only answered quite helplessly, in his native tongue, that he didn't know where in world there was anyone who would give him employment, but that if such could be found he would gladly toil.

FIRE HORROR IN FORT WAYNE, IND. MANY ARE KILLED

New Avelline Hotel
Burned to the Ground Early
in Morning.

DEAD MAY NUMBER TWENTY

Register Is Destroyed and Names of All
Missing Cannot Be Obtained.

Flames Spread Rapidly in Old Building, Entrapping the Occupants of Upper Floors—Many Thrilling Escapes.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 4.—An unknown number of persons, estimated at from 12 to 20, lost their lives in a fire that destroyed the New Avelline hotel here early Sunday.

The entire interior of the building is a smoldering heap of ruins and how many dead are concealed by the debris can only be conjectured. The hotel register was consumed by the fire and there is no accurate means of determining who is missing.

Known Dead and Missing.

The known dead are: R. S. Johnson, Pana, Ill.; M. Hirsch, New York;
J. B. Miller, Sheboygan, Wis.; J. E.
Ellis, Carson, Pa.; Scott & Co., Chicago; W. A. Pletcher, Fort Wayne, salesman for S. P. Toyser & Co., Fort Wayne; J. W. Deviney, salesman for Crawford & Lehman, Philadelphia;
three unidentified men.

The known missing: R. E. Tribble, Dahart, Tex.; Frank Haster, attorney, Auburn, Ind.; companion of Frank Haster of Auburn, Ind.; E. H. Alty, Wabash, Ind.; Charles Benjamin, salesman for Detroit Neekwear company, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Sarah Hathaway, Mishawaka, Ind.; unknown woman, companion of Mrs. Hathaway.

Bodies in Mass of Wreckage.

The complete destruction of the interior of the hotel makes the work of recovering bodies a task of great difficulty. A confused heap of charred wood, bricks and twisted girders is piled up between the bare walls to the second story. Pieces by pieces this must be removed before the roll of the dead can be completed. Some of the bodies taken out are mangled and charred beyond recognition and the work of identification is in those cases a task almost baffling.

Infantry company D and battery H of the National Guard are on duty and aiding the fire and police forces to clear away the debris.

Night Clerk Saves Many.

The fire was discovered at 3:20 in the morning in the elevator shaft by Night Clerk Ralph Hopkins. He rushed to the upper floors, alarming the guests, until the flames, which had spread with appalling rapidity, drove him back. His efforts, however, saved many lives. The hotel was erected half a century ago and the woodwork was dry as tinder. It burned like matchwood and within a few minutes from the time the fire was discovered the whole interior of the hotel was a mass of flames that filled the corridors and rooms with suffocating clouds of smoke and laid fiery barriers across all means of escape save by the windows.

The fire department rescued many by means of ladders, but some, frenzied by the onward rush of the flames, leaped from high windows, to the paved street.

Man Leaps and Is Killed.

R. S. Johnson of Pana, Ill., jumped from the fifth story. His body struck a balcony and bounded far into the street. He was a crushed and bleeding mass when picked up and died a short time later in St. Joseph's hospital.

As the fury of the flames increased,
men and women were seen in the windows of their rooms, where they wildly implored help. Some did not wait for the efforts of the firemen and leaped to the street. Several were seriously injured in this way. Those who got from their rooms before the flames cut off their retreat were able to make their way to the fire escape and so were saved with comparative ease. Soon the flames broke from the windows and curled about the fire-escapes. Some of the more hardy ones braved the flames and made their way through smoke and fire down the iron stairs.

Some Thrilling Escapes.

There were many thrilling escapes.
Clude H. Varnell of the Fort Wayne baseball team, his sister, Mrs. John Hendricks, and John Hendricks of Chicago, manager of the Fort Wayne team, together with Master Hendricks, aged five years, barely escaped with their lives. Varnell lost all his personal belongings valued at several thousand dollars. Hendricks, with his wife ahead of him and his boy in his arms, was descending the fire escape from the fifth floor. At the third floor the fire broke out below them. He saw Mrs. Hendricks over the railing and she dropped to the platform of the story below. He then dropped his son into the waiting arms of his wife and all made their way to the ground.

Other rescues as thrilling and escapes as narrow were numerous.

When the fire was at its height a man at a third-story window was seen wildly waving his arms. He shrieked:
"My God! Men, save me! Will no one save me?" and then leaped from the window and went whirling to the pavement below. He was picked up desperately hurt. He was E. M. Matthews of Columbus, O.

A score or more of women employed in the hotel were in the upper rooms in the rear part of the hotel. Most of them escaped without injury, but some in their frenzy leaped to the alley.

May Be Many in Ruins.

Many who were thought dead in the ruins were found to be alive through having sent telegrams to their homes. That there are still many bodies in the ruins is the belief of Fire Chief Hilbrecht and Chief of Police Anckenbruck. Chief Anckenbruck basing his estimates on the reports of the police, gave the number of dead yet in the ruins at 20. At that hour eight bodies had been recovered.
A guest on the fifth floor, who was aroused at the outbreak of the fire and escaped, says he believes very few on the fifth floor or in the rooms in the mansard escaped. Other bodies are believed to be at the foot of the elevator shaft.

Among the missing are two aged women, Miss Hathaway and her companion of Mishawaka, Ind. They came here to receive some children for an orphanage with which they are connected at Mishawaka.

Hotel Building Was Old.

The New Avelline hotel was a six-story building of brick in the business center of the city. Its erection was began in 1852, but it was not completed until several years later. In 1895 the building was extensively remodeled and two stories were added.
The hotel and furnishings were valued at $80,000.

Throughout the framework of the interior was of wood, dried like tinder from a half century's seasoning and it burned with great rapidity. Within a quarter of an hour from the time the fire was discovered in the elevator shaft, practically the entire building was wrapped in flames. The whole interior became a roaring furnace and from basement to roof all was blazing at once. In rapid succession the floors fell to the basement, carrying their toll of dead.

Other occupants of the hotel block and their losses are: Jones & Stevens, proprietors hotel, personal, $5,000; G.
H. Brown, saloon, $10,000; C. B. Woodworth & Co., drugs, $6,000; Postal Telegraph company, $2,000; Strauss Bros., bankers, $2,000; George Streicher, barber shop, $2,500; Leo Vinas, clothes and news stand, $6,000; Bass block, adjoining hotel, $1,500. All losses in the hotel block, save the Strauss bank were total. The bank vaults are intact. Losses are fully insured.

Escape Out Lose Clothing.

John P. Strohbecher of New York, after a thrilling escape from death in the flames, reached the ground almost naked. He had no time to gather up his apparel, the flames having burst into his room before he was awakened.
Scores of men and women reached the ground with nothing on but their night clothes. None of the guests had time to save their effects. Dry goods and clothing stores were thrown open to men and women and all who needed apparel were supplied without question.

R. S. Lewis of Chicago was driven from his room on the third floor to the window ledge. The flames were lap-ping about him and he swung down from window to window. Firemen hoisted a ladder to aid him, but it became entangled in wires. Lewis became exhausted, his grasp loosened and he dropped just as the ladder was raised under his feet, but he managed to save himself.

A. R. Sallot of New York had an almost similar experience. The flames were in his room when he awoke. He dropped his way through the smoke to a window and crawled out upon the ledge and clung there precariously, edging away an inch at a time as the flames curled from the window. He was just about to take chances in a leap of four stories to the hard asphalt beneath when a hand was thrust down to him from the roof adjoining and he was pulled to safety.

Rejected Sultor Kills Two.

New York, May 4.—Enraged because his long journey across the seas had ended in the refusal of his proposal of marriage, William Sekanaky, a young Poleander, shot and killed Anita Koelkonwa, a 20-year-old Polish girl, in the hallway of a boarding house in Williamsburg Sunday night, and before he was overpowered by the police shot and killed Michael Kirsand, who sought to intercept him in his flight.

Grover Cleveland Better.

Lakewood, N. J., May 4.—The condition of former President Grover Cleveland, who is said by his physicians to be suffering from acute indigestion, continues to show daily improvement, according to Mrs. Cleveland, who expresses the hope that the progress of her husband's recovery may permit an early return to Princeton.

Third Victim of Dynamiters.

Butte, Mont., May 4.—George Ehle, fireman of the Burlington Overland limited, which was dynamited by bandits Friday near this city, died early Sunday morning. This makes the third fatality of the wreck.

Grieving Mother a Suicide.

Chicago, May 4.—Grieving over the loss of a three-year-old child led Mrs.
Mabel White, wife of Larn E. White, a downtown restaurant owner, to shoot and kill herself Sunday in her home, 2402 Avers avenue. She placed a revolver in her mouth and discharged it.

SWEDISH PRINCE WEDS IN RUSSIA

WILHELM IS MARRIED TO THE EMPEROR'S COUSIN.

CEREMONIES ARE STATELY

Two Empresses Dress the Bride, Grand Duchess Marie Pavlovna—
Union Seals Understanding Between the Countries.

St. Petersburg, May 4.—Prince Wilhelm of Sweden, second son of King Gustavo, the popular sailor prince who visited America in 1907, was married Sunday afternoon to Grand Duchess Marie Pavlovna, cousin of the emperor of Russia and daughter of Grand Duke Paul Alexandrovitch.

The ceremony took place at Tsarskoe-Selo and was accompanied by all the pomp and brilliant display of color characteristic of the most stately court in Europe.

In the evening a great state banquet was served, at which toasts were drunk to the good understanding between Sweden and Russia recently reached in the Baltic agreement, to which this wedding—the first in modern times between the ruling houses of the two countries—puts the seal.

Cannon Boom All Day.

The beginning of the nuptial ceremonies was announced by the firing of five guns simultaneously at nine o'clock in the morning by the battery at Tsarskoe-Selo and by the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul in St. Petersburg. This was but the beginning of the noisy acclamation, for the thunder of salutes was heard almost uninterruptedly throughout the afternoon and the evening.

The wedding guests who took part in the ceremony assembled at half-past two o'clock in the afternoon at the great palace at Tsarskoe-Selo.
Only Premier Stolypin, the members of the cabinet, the president of the Duma, and the president of the council of state, the principal ambassadors to Russia and their wives, and a few of the highest dignitaries of the empire found place in the small blue and gold chapel of the palace, where the orthodox ceremony was performed.
The other guests were stationed according to their rank in the various saloons through which the bridal procession passed.

Bride Dressed by Empresses.

The robing of the bride was performed in accordance with court custom in the private apartments of the empress. She was dressed by the empress and the dowager empress, assisted by their maids of honor and their high-in-waiting.

The bride wore on her head a jeweled diadem, and from her shoulders hung a long trained mantle of strawberry velvet lined with ermine. In the procession the train of this garment was borne by five court chamberlains.

A salute of 21 guns and a blare of trumpets announced the start of the procession. At its head came the dowager empress on the arm of King Gustavo; the emperor of Russia, escorting Queen Olga of Greece; the empress, escorted by the grand duke of Hesse; Crown Prince Ferdinand and Crown Princess Marie of Roumania, attended by the court ushers and marshals and other functionaries. Then, arm in arm, came the bridal pair. Behind them marched Prince Nicholas and Prince Andrew of Greece and their wives, Prince Christopher of Greece and Prince Carl of Sweden and his wife. The guests from foreign courts were followed by more than a score of Russian grand dukes and grand duchesses, including the three oldest daughters of Emperor Nicholas, Grand Duchess Olga, Grand Duchess Tatiana and Grand Duchess Marie, the oldest being 13 years old.

Two Marriage Ceremonies.

The imperial guests were received at the chapel doors by the metropolitan of the court and a number of priests. After the emperor had been blessed and sprinkled with holy water he conducted the bridal pair to the data before the great golden gates of the high altar. The wedding rings were brought from the altar on golden salvers and placed upon the fingers of the bride and bridegroom by the emperor's confessor.

The metropolitan then completed the rites of the Russian marriage service, two of the bride's nearest relatives holding crowns over the heads of the bridal pair during the ceremony.
While the Te Deum was being chanted an imperial salute of 101 guns was fired. The procession then returned to one of the ante-chambers, where the Lutheran marriage ceremony was performed by the Swedish bishop of Lund.

Harvey Hinkle Is Acquitted.

Bloomington, Ind., May 4.—After deliberating for 48 hours, the jury in the Harvey Hinkle murder case returned a verdict that the defendant was not guilty, on the sole ground of insanity. On the night of August 8, 1907, Hinkle shot and killed John R.
McClintock as the latter was escorting home a young woman to whom Hinkle had been attentive.

Rector Connell Made a Bishop.

Baltimore, Md., May 4.—With impressive ceremonial, Monsie. Dennis John F. Connell, rector of the Catholic university at Washington, D. C., was consecrated titular bishop of Sabate Sunday.

DONALD GRANT HERRING.

"This paper has secured the services of Donald Grant Herring, Pennsylvania, Princeton, '07, and now a Rhodes scholar at Oxford, to write a number of articles on English college life and other events of interest in England.
The story of the Olympic games is his first contribution and gives a very clear and concise statement of the facts surrounding this international athletic contest to be held in London this coming summer.

OLYMPIC GAMES.

By Donald Grant Herring.

(Special Correspondent.)
London, England.—I have just received the preliminary "Program and General Regulations" of the British Olympic Council, of which Lord Duns-borough of Taplow is chairman. The "program" is a book containing twelve pages of reading matter, of which I can give only the barest outlines. The general regulations define amateurs in each sport, modes of entering names and registering protests, regulations as to only fully qualified citizens competing for the different provinces and countries, and finally,
and only Olympic medals as prizes, gold silver and bronze. There is no entrance fee for any event and entry cannot be made to the British Olympic council for any portion of their expenses.

There will be twenty-four or twenty-five countries and provinces represented and approximately 1,500 competitors. There are twenty-two branches of sport to be contested, eleven in the stadium and eleven elsewhere. The stadium events will be held in two sessions, the majority in July, 1908, the rest in October, there being winter games such as football and the like.

The Olympic games are held every four years in different countries each time. They are a revival of the old Olympic games held continuously at Athens, in Greece, from 776 B. C. down to some time in the third century after Christ. This is the fourth revival, though there were games held

In 1906 at Athens under Olympic nipples. The first games were held at Athens in 1896, when Princeton university won great honors. In 1900 at Paris, the University of Pennsylvania swept the boards. In 1904, at St.
Louis, Princeton and Chicago, divided honors. In 1908 can the American universities beat Oxford and Cambridge in the latter's own territory?

The chairman of the British Olympic council and the man who makes the wheels go round for this summer is Lord Desborough of Taplow. He is a typical British sportsman, an Oxford man and ex-president of the P. V. B.
C. and P. V. A. C. In plain American terms that means that at Oxford he was captain of the crew and captain of the track team. He is making arrangements for entertaining the visitors this summer in true British style, and it is to be hoped that some of the American newspapers which have been uttering anti-British statements will reserve their comments until they find out what British hospitality means.

America is very fortunate in the athletic material from which she may draw. Among those prominent are Marion Sheridan, world's champion all-around athlete, with a specialty of the discus, in which event he defeated the Greeks at Athens four years ago. He holds the international record. Another American product is Ralph Rose of California, who is the greatest weight putter in the world. In one event Rose broke the records in the 8-pound shot, 12-pound shot, 14-pound shot, 18-pound shot, 21-pound shot and 28-pound shot. Harry Hillman, American champion low hurdler, is expected to make new marks in the hurdling events this year and should easily win the championship of the world if he goes to London with the Olympic team.

ANTIPOLO IS BURNED.

Fire Started by Lightning Destroys Town in Philippines.

Manila, May 4.—The town of Antipolo, in the province of Morong, has been practically destroyed by fire.
Four hundred houses were burned and hundreds of people are homeless. The famous shrine was saved. The fire was caused by lightning. Antipolo is a town of 3,500 inhabitants.

All Regular.

"Yes, the duke loves me for myself alone." "Bah!" "But he does. Here are affidavits to that effect, duly drawn up and witnessed by his solicitor."

Nothing Interesting.
A southern lady came to Washington the other day on a visit. The congressman called at her hotel early one morning. As he was about to leave she asked him if there was to be anything interesting in the house that afternoon. "I'm afraid not," he said, half-apologetically. "You see I will be detained in a committee room most of the day."—Washington Correspondence to New York American.

Epigrams in Face of Death.

Tom Hood cast epigrams at himself in the face of death. His wife was preparing a large mustard plaster to apply to his shrunken chest. "My dear," said Hood, "that's a terrible lot of mustard for a small piece of beef." Sir Walter Raleigh expressed himself in a similar mood after he mounted the scaffold. Feeling the edge of the ax, he said to the executioner: "This is a sharp medicine, but it is a cure for all diseases."

A Lady's Limit.

"How long did the fight with your husband last?" "About ten minutes, your honor. Sure no lady would keep at it any longer."—Harper's Weekly.

BRYAN AND CONRAD

When Governor Johnson of Minnesota decided to enter the presidential race, prediction was made that he would prove a formidable candidate against Bryan, and that conservative democracy would rally to his support. New York, and other eastern states, expressed satisfaction, and the honest Norwestern from the northwest was warmly welcomed. But enthusiasm was short lived and today the Empire state is in line for Bryan, and his nomination is no longer a question of doubt.

In casting about for the cause which have led to this change of sentiment, a prominent "gold democrat" of New York said, the other day: "The men behind the Johnson boom have made the mistake of supposing that you could nominate a man for the presidency of the United States by simply calling him a Swede."

That is true, for while the title is a mark of distinction in Minnesota and Wisconsin, other requisites for public office are required in the large arena of national politics. The real reason for Bryan's popularity among the conservatives, however, is found in the following facts, stated by a correspondent of the "Morning Telegraph":

"It is surmised that the falling off in Johnson sentiment is due largely to the lack of warmth shown in the movement by James J. Hill of Minnesota. Mr. Hill ceased to take much interest in the Governor Johnson presidential aspirations as soon as he learned that W. G. Conrad, the Montana banker, minor and railroad owner, was Mr. Bryan's personal choice for the vice-presidency. Mr. Conrad is a Virginian and went into the northwest forty years ago, when Mr. Hill started to open up that wilderness. Mr. Conrad and Mr. Hill have been close business and personal friends during all those years. Both gentlemen have become multi-millionaires by helping build up that section of the country, and they have convinced Mr. Bryan that the way to win out is to adopt the policy of building up rather than tearing down.

"Mr. Conrad was seen at the National Park bank before he started west yesterday. He said: "Mr. Bryan will be nominated beyond the shadow of a doubt. He already has more than enough delegates pledged to him to control the convention. Businessmen generally are turning to Mr. Bryan, and I look upon his election as a sure thing."

"Mr. Conrad was asked if he was a candidate for vice-president, and he replied very frankly that he was not a candidate in the sense of hunting for the place. "A number of my friends in the south and west," said he, "have asked me to be a candidate on the theory that it was about time the south had some representation upon the democratic ticket. I'm not going to do anything to get the nomination, but if it comes my way I'll be pleased to accept it. I consider it a great honor to run on the ticket with Colonel Bryan. He is one of the big men of this century."

"The bringing forward of Mr. Conrad's name at this time is a shrewd play on the part of Mr. Bryan. Mr. Conrad is the most popular figure in the northwest. Worth anywhere from $25,000,000 to $100,000,000, he is as simple and democratic as Bryan himself. His personality pervades the whole northwestern country. When it becomes known that he is Mr. Bryan's personal choice for the second place on the ticket, the Johnson boom will collapse. It is necessary for Wall street to understand these facts in order to thoroughly grasp the democratic situation. One thing is certain: If Mr. Conrad is on the democratic ticket with Mr. Bryan the platform will be a conservative one. His name insures for the democratic party a constructive policy."

This is undoubtedly the ticket with which the republican party will compete, and it possesses elements of strength which can not be set aside by a wave of the hand. Next to Roosevelt, Bryan is the most popular man in the nation today. With Conrad for a running mate, the ticket will combine popularity and conservatism. The Chicago convention can not afford to make any mistake in naming a ticket. Taft is the strongest candidate in the field and he should be nominated.

THE DIVE AND BROTHEL MUST GO

The National Brewers' association will hold its annual convention in Chicago this week, and the topics to be discussed are unusual, because they have to do with reform. The brewers are alarmed at the rapid strides made by the law and order movement, and begin to realize that if the American saloon, in any form is to maintain existence, that the business must be thoroughly purged from many objectionable features.

The convention will devote its time to discussing "the dive," slot machines, gambling, the treating habit, and several other things which have made the business particularly objectionable. There has been a good deal of talk along this line, for the past year, but nothing has been done. In the meantime the law and order sentiment has developed rapidly and the chances are that the brewers may discover that they have waited too long.

The saloon is largely responsible for the fight which is being made against it, and no one knows this fact better than the manufacturers and men engaged in the business. Liquor has been sold to minors, and to men intoxicated. The early closing and Sunday laws have been violated. Slot machines and all sorts of gambling devices have been installed, and these practices have been so persistently followed, that they became a menace to every community.

The law and order movement is more than a temperance campaign, and is being conducted on entirely different lines. It is not a temperance crusade, neither is it being conducted by the prohibition party.

It is absolutely free from politics, and enlists with equal interest men of all parties and of no party.

Men who drink occasionally, and who make no claim to being total abstainers, are enthusiastic defenders of the work, and heartily in sympathy with it.

Those conditions exist because of the lawlessness which characterizes the business, and because of the disgust which this lawlessness creates.

If the brewers mean what they say, let them take the licensed cities of Wisconsin, or any other state, and clean out the objectionable features. They have it in their power to do this, and an object lesson will do more to prove sincerity than all the resolutions that can be passed at a dozen conventions.

PROMISES WELL FOR STATE PARKS

The present, friendly feeling throughout the state toward the state park proposition makes it reasonably certain that the next legislature of Wisconsin will follow the example of a number of the eastern states in making an appropriation for the purchase of one or more tracts of land for state park purposes. There are a half dozen tracts in picturesque sections of the state which the state park board are examining, and several of them will be recommended for purchase at the next session.

Chicago has enjoyed a tunnel transfer for mail service for the past four years, but the government finds it expensive, and may return to the old-time wagon service. This will be a mistake. With a dozen depots, scattered over miles of territory, rapid transfer is impossible not only to Chicago, but to the entire country, and the question of expense should not be considered.

Jane Addams, of Hull House fame, has gained notoriety by denouncing the Chicago police for their action in handling the Averbuch-Shippy case. Miss Addams is at the head of Russian settlement work and her subjects are largely exiles, who left their country for the general good. Sympathy for this class of people appears to have overbalanced reason and common sense. American soil is a poor place for anarchists of any nationality.

The nation can not long support an army of idle people, and maintain present prices on produce and merchandise, because supplies of all kinds will soon exceed demands. The necessities of life, as well as the luxuries, suffer in times of long continued depression.

A Difference.
 Mother—"Frances, don't tease. You know mother does not like her little girl to eat between meals." Frances (aged three)—"Mother, this isn't between meals. It's before meals."

MEETINGS ENDED SUNDAY EVENING

REV. W. A. ROWELL DELIVERS THE FINAL ADDRESS.

WAS A GOOD CONVENTION

Elected Officers at Business Meeting Held on Saturday Evening.

Last evening in the Congregational church Rev. W. A. Rowell of Beloit delivered the final address of the convention of the Christian Endeavorers which has been held here the latter part of this week. His subject was "The Burning Heart."

Saturday afternoon the Juniors and Intermediates held their rally at which, after the roll call, reports were given from nine societies in the district. The banner was then returned to the Evansville Juniors.

After a musical selection Mrs. Donson spoke to the meeting on the subject of how to organize a Christian Endeavor club. This was followed by recitations and instrumental music by some of the Janesville Juniors. Rev. John P. Deane of Beloit Academy then spoke on a "Life With a Purpose." He told of the life of Lawrence Thurston which though it was short was long enough for him to accomplish a wonderful work because he had a purpose. He said that the getting of your purpose and giving your heart to it was what made one's life tell for something. A man bound by a great purpose is bound to accomplish something and make the world better for having lived in it.

At 7:30 in the evening the business meeting was called to order by the president. Reports of the various officers and committees were read and accepted.

The time for the holding of the next convention was changed from spring to fall but no definite time or place was chosen. The officers elected were: President, Alfred Godfrey, Whitewater; Vice-President, Dr. F. G. Wolcott, Janesville; Secretary, H. L. Polan, Milton; Treasurer, Roy Cole, Beloit; Superintendents—Intermediate, Miss Lydia Pascoe, Janesville; Junior, Miss Nellie Pench, Fulton; Missionary, Mrs. M. M. Parls, Janesville; Lookout Committee—Rev. H. W. Kellogg, chairman, Delavan; Miss Esther Shepard, Milton; Miss Minerva Sullivan, Abilene; Denominational Vice President—Baptist, G. Myers, Evansville; Congregational, Rev. L. A. Parr, Edgemoor; English Lutheran, Rev. W. P. Barnett, Sharon; Presbyterians, Mr. George R. Ray, Beloit; Seventh Day Baptist, Rev. G. W. Lawless, Milton Jet.

After the election of officers a social was given for the delegates and visitors at which the following program was rendered:

Selection
 Janesville Symphony Orchestra Solo
 Miss Agnes Grabel Cello Solo
 Mr. Kimball Violin Solo
 Miss Savarill Light refreshments were also served.

Over forty-five delegates were present at this convention and together with the visiting Endeavorers the entire attendance from out of town was about one hundred. The convention was very successful and all who were there felt that they had gained much good through it.

HORSE FELL INTO SEWER DITCH AND ON TOP OF A BOY

On East Milwaukee Street This Afternoon—Section of the Fire Department Called Out.

Fred McCann came near losing a valuable horse, and a Scandinavian youth, who was unable to give him a hand, narrowly escaped with his life about two o'clock this afternoon in an accident at the deep sewer trenches which McVear Bros. are excavating opposite 152 East Milwaukee street. The driver was urging the horse to cross a narrow ledge between two of these trenches when the animal slipped and plunged into the hole on top of the boy who was shoveling at the bottom. The boy was gotten out through a tunnel to the next section of the ditch after considerable effort by several men who at once came to his assistance. He had a bad cut over one ear and appeared to be badly dazed but was able to walk away to a doctor's office. Driver Cornelius Murphy and the East Side hose wagon responded to a telephone call and under the direction of Mr. Murphy a section of hose was soon stretched under the imprisoned beast. About thirty men got into the "tug of war" and not only raised the animal out of the hole but rolled it over once for interest. The horse escaped without a scratch.

ARRESTED AUTOIST UNDER STATE LAWS

John Clark Swears Out Warrant for Wilson Lane This Afternoon—Frightened His Horse.

John Clark, a farmer residing in the Town of Johnston, this afternoon swore out a warrant for the arrest of Wilson Lane, charging him with violating the state law which requires an automobile driver to stop his machine when a signal of distress is given by the driver of a team. In the statutes it is known as section 1636, section 50, laws of 1907, and the penalty is $50. Mr. Lane was arrested this afternoon and his hearing is set for Saturday at ten a. m. According to Mr. Clark, Lane was driving his auto up Mt. Zion hill as he and his wife and two small children were coming down. The alleged horse turned out over half the road and Lane waved his arms and yelled for more room, that he then signaled for Lane to slow up so he could turn his horse around his way, which so frightened his horse that it ran away after nearly dumping him and his family in a ditch. With Clark was his wife with a four-month-old child and a two-year-old girl sat in its father's lap. No one was hurt, but Mrs. Clark was so badly frightened she is in a critical condition. Mr. Lane is also defendant in an action for $250 brought by Fred Boelke, for running into and running a horse last December on Magnolia avenue. This case will come up in the present term of the circuit court.

REVEREND VAUGHAN DECIDES TO LEAVE

Thanks Church for Invitation to Remain but Feels He Must Take Long Rest.

At the Sunday morning service Rev. and Mrs. M. Vaughan, pastor of the Baptist church, announced to his congregation that he felt it his duty to the church to resign his charge here. He thanked the members for their unanimous invitation to remain, but reiterated his resignation offered a week before. Later the church board met and accepted his resignation. Mr. Vaughan has been here for seven years and on Sunday next will preach his farewell sermon. He will leave Janesville sometime the week following. Thus far his plans are unsettled, but he will doubtless spend some months during the coming summer in the west and later when entirely recovered in health will seek another church. It is with regret Mr. Vaughan's many friends will learn of his determination to leave Janesville.

BOAR HOG BITES AN AGED FARMER BADLY

Henry Bartling Who Lives Near Beloit Severely Injured This Morning.

While driving some little pigs from a pen inhabited by a large ugly stag hog, Henry Bartling, aged sixty odd years, was severely bitten in the fleshy part of the leg by the boar which became angry and attacked the old gentleman. He managed to beat the animal off and was summoned to remove him to his house. John Linde and Richard Behling, neighbors, aided and summoned a doctor from Beloit. The wounds are not thought dangerous but owing to the advanced age of the sufferer may make his recovery doubtful.

OBSTINATE ULCERS MAY LEAD TO CANCER

There is no difference, at first, in the appearance of a cancerous and a common ulcer, and for this reason every sore that is obstinate or slow in healing should excite suspicion, for the sore is nothing more than the external evidence of a polluted blood, and if allowed to remain may degenerate into cancer. Efforts to heal the ulcer by means of salves, plasters and other external remedies always result in failure, because such treatment can have no possible effect on the blood, where the deadly germs and morbid matter form, and are carried through the circulation to the place. No sore or ulcer can exist without a predisposing internal cause, and the open, discharging ulcer or festering old sore will continue to eat deeper into the surrounding flesh as long as a polluted, germ-infected circulation discharges its impurities into it. S. S. S. goes to the fountain-head of the trouble, and drives out the germ-producing poisons and morbid impurities which keep the ulcer open. Then as this rich, purified blood goes to the diseased place the healing begins, all discharge ceases, the inflammation gradually leaves, new tissue and healthy flesh are formed, and soon the sore is permanently cured. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots and herbs of a healing, cleansing nature, and unlike mineral medicines, which often do great damage to the delicate parts of the system, S. S. S. tones up every part of the body. Book on Sore and Ulcer and any medical advice desired free.

JAMES MONROE AND HIS RESIDENCE AT OAK HILL, VIRGINIA.

The far-sighted policy of James Monroe, fifth president of the United States, is typified in the "Monroe Doctrine." This principle, "America for Americans," has been one of the basic principles of the United States in dealing with the South American republics for over eighty years, and although it receives much criticism it must be admitted that it has served a great end in the world's history.

James Monroe was born in Westmoreland, Va., April 28, 1758, so that when he was elected president in 1817 he was celebrating his birth. The age in which Monroe lived was one of gigantic battle undertakings in the new republic of the United States. He was graduated from the College of William and Mary in 1776 and immediately joined the patriot army as a cadet in Mercer's regiment. He took part in the engagements at Brandywine, Monmouth and Red Bank. For his bravery at the battle of Trenton he was promoted to a captaincy and in 1778 was made aide to Lord Sterling. He later distinguished himself in the battles of Brandywine, Germantown and Monmouth. After the latter battle he left the army, studied law under Jefferson and again took up arms when Virginia was invaded by Cornwallis. He identified himself with state politics and on account of his sterling qualities was sent to Washington as United States senator from Virginia. He was then made minister to France, but was recalled in 1790 because of his opposition to the Jay treaty. In defense of his conduct he published the whole diplomatic correspondence with his government while he was in Paris. From 1793 to 1802 he was governor of Virginia. He received the nomination for president of the United States at the hands of the democratic congressional convention March 15, 1816, was elected and inaugurated the following March.

President Monroe was on terms of great intimacy with General Jackson, who advised him to disregard party lines in appointing the members of his cabinet. Monroe, however, prepared to adhere to the policies of Jefferson and Madison and appointed only those of his own political faith.

After his first term, so faithfully did President Monroe adhere to the principles of his inaugural address that he was re-nominated and was re-elected by almost unanimous vote in the electoral college. During his administration he recognized the independence of several of the South American states, and in his message to congress December 2, 1823, he declared the principle which is now known as the Monroe Doctrine.

THE CAPTAIN OF the KANSAS

By LOUIS TRACY.
Author of "The Wings of the Morning," "The Pillar of Light," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY EDWARD J. CLODE

When a more extended knowledge of all that had happened, joined to a nearer adjustment of the time factor in events, enabled Elsie to realize the extraordinary deliverance from death which she had been vouchsafed that night she began to appreciate the service which Christobal rendered her in discussing matters with such nonchalance.

Barely a minute had elapsed since they were in the throes of a struggle which promised to be the last act of a tragedy. The ship was then overrun by a horde of howling savages, maddened by the desperate resistance offered by the defenders and ruthless as wolves in their lust for destruction. Now the Kansas was clear of every bedaubed Alaculof save the many who clung to the decks either dead or so seriously wounded that they could not move. These men were so near akin to animals that this condition implied ultimate collapse save in a few instances of frenzied skulls and broken limbs. From the final stages of a hopeless butchery the survivors of the ship's company were suddenly transferred to a position of reasonable security. It was not that the arrival of the ship's boats meant such an occasion of fighting strength that the Alaculofs could not have made sure of victory. Gray and his companions were badly armed. The Indians remaining in the canoes could have pelted them to shreds in a few minutes. Even those on the ship had the power to resist any attempt by the newcomers to gain the decks. But the superstitious savages had already severed themselves up to an act of unusual daring in delivering a night attack, and the appearance of boats filled with men of whose fighting qualities they had already such a lively experience quite demoralized them. They fled without attempting a counter assault.

At last the sounds of conflict died away. The black waters closed over the dead; the last swimmer vanished into the silence. The spasm of the barking of the dog, the growling of men lying on the decks and the shouts exchanged between Courtney and Gray for the guidance of the boats were the only remaining symbols of the fiercest crisis which had yet befallen the Kansas.

Elsie, wandering through a trance-like maze of vivid impressions, awoke with a start to the fact that Courtney was giving directions for the lowering of the ship's gangway, meanwhile receiving information as to the identity of the boats beneath.

"Mr. Malcolm is in charge of the jolly boat," Gray was saying. "Miss Darling and Mr. and Mrs. Somerville are with him. Miss Darling's maid is dead. Señor Jerrera is in my boat, No. 2. We have been on White Horse Island all this time, but we have seen nothing of the other lifeboat."

"That meant (Elsie) two boats out of those which quitted the ship had arrived this opportunity. Señor Jerrera was the Spanish mining engineer who had been hustled into one of the craft manned by the mutineers. And Christobal was saying:

"Well, Miss Maxwell, you and I can look forward to a busy night. The ship is littered with wounded men, and our newly arrived friends must be worn with fatigue."

His smooth, even sentences helped to dispel the stupor of amazement which had made her dumb. And the first reasoned thought which came to her was that the Spanish doctor had treated her with the kindness of an indulgent parent, for Elsie was far too unwell not to be alive to the selfishness of others.

"How good you have been to me!" she murmured. "I can never repay you. I remember now that I said dreadful things to you in the cabin. But you did not know what it meant to me when I realized that Captain Courtney might be falling even then beneath the blows of those merciless savages. I have not had a chance to tell you that he has asked me to be his wife and I have consented. I love him more than all the world. And you, Dr. Christobal, you who knew my father and mother, who have grown up daughters of your own, you will wish me happiness."

It was not easy to hear when it came, although he had guessed the truth already. But he choked back the wrath and despair which surged up in him and said, with his stately courtesy:

"I do wish you well, Elsie. No man can hope more earnestly than I that you have made the better choice."

Then he turned with a certain abruptness which reminded her of the change in his manner she had noticed once or twice during recent days and quitted the bridge. She sighed and was sorry for him, knowing that he loved her.

Courtney, who had been far too busy to pay heed to anything beyond the brief fight between the boats and the canoes, perceived now that the gangway was in position. Lights were shining on both the upper and lower platforms.

He stretched out his hand and drew Elsie to him.

"Are you alone, sweetheart?" he asked.

"Yes."

"Kiss me, then, and go to meet your friends. They will be aboard in less than a minute. Oh, Elsie, I thought I had seen the last of you!"

"Was it so bad as that?" she murmured, a great content soothing her heart and brain at her lover's admission that he was thinking of her during the worst agony of the fray. He gave her a reassuring hug.

With her soul singing a canticle of joy, she passed from the bridge to the lower deck. Mr. Doyle was waiting there, holding a lantern.

"Hi!" he growled when he saw her. "Papa's you'll believe what I tell you before your hair turns gray, if not sooner. Look! Did any man ever have such luck as the skipper? Why, if he fell off along Blom he'd find a cypress root poked up to catch him."

"I agree with you so fully," Mr. Doyle, she whispered, "that I am going to marry him."

"I guessed as much," he answered. "At any rate, I fancied it wouldn't be for want of a try on his part."

It was a well and broken spirited look which Elsie led to her cabin, but notwithstanding her wretched state her eyes quickly took in the orderly condition of the room.

"I left my clothes strewn all over the floor," she said, with a nervousness which Elsie attributed to the hardships she had undergone. "Why do you trouble to pick them away?"

"Then Elsie told her of her hunt for the powder box and was so obviously unconcerned about any incident other than the adventures they had both experienced since they parted that Isabel questioned her no further. A bath and a change of clothing worked marvels. Though thin and weak for want of proper food, neither Isabel nor Mrs. Somerville had suffered in health from the exposure and short fare involved by life on the island. It was broad daylight ere they could be persuaded to retire to rest, there was so much to tell and to hear.

Meanwhile the meeting between Tollenmache and Gray was full of racial subtleties.

Tollenmache, stepping forward to grasp Gray's hand, felt it was incumbent on him to utter the first word.

"Had a pretty rotten time of it, I expect?" said he.

"Poisonous. And you?"

"Oh, fair. Honestly close squeak when you turned up."

Gray became more explicit when Courtney met him in the chart room, where the table had to be cleared of debris before some glasses and a couple of bottles of champagne could be staged.

"When those blackguards cast off from the ship," he said, "we scudded away in a sort of ocean mill race which threatened to upset us at any moment—in fact, we gave up hope for a time—but, as the boat kept about, Mr. Malcolm and I managed to strike the Chileans, and we got them to steady her with the oars. Some time before daylight we ran into smooth water and made out land on the port bow. In a few moments we were ashore on a pebbly beach in a place alive with seals. When the sun rose we found we were on a barren island and, what was more, that one of the ship's lifeboats had been upset on a reef which we just missed and had lost all her stores, though the men had scrambled into safety. With the aid of our boat and helped by fine weather we raised the lifeboat and recovered some of her fittings. The water casks and tins of food were hauled up by a chain which could do well. We have been on that lump of rock until today, when I finally persuaded the others that unless we made for the land which we could see in the dim distance the weather would break and our food give out. The trouble with the Chileans was that they were afraid of the natives hereabouts and preferred to wait on the off chance of a ship showing up. At last they saw that Malcolm and I were right, but we missed the full run of the tide and were some miles from the mainland, or whatever it is, when night fell. We pushed along cautiously, found the entrance to the cove we had made out before the light failed and were about to lay to until dawn when we saw a rocket and heard the fog horn. That woke us up, you bet. The Chileans pulled like mad, but when we came near enough to discover that the ship was being attacked by Indians I had a fearful job to get my heroes to butt in. That fellow Gomez is a brick. He acted like a polliwog, and finally they got a move on. From what I have seen since I came aboard I guess you were hustling about that time."

"Yes," said Courtney, filling a glass with wine, as he heard Doyle's step without. He handed the glass to the chief when he entered.

"How many?" he asked.

"Eight. We've stung fifty-three in-

Prove Kodol

Prove it at our risk. The proof is easy and quick. Eat what you need of the food that you want, and note how Kodol digests it. Pepsin alone can't do what Kodol does. See our guarantee.

We guarantee the action of Kodol. Please note the offer below.

We claim that Kodol does all that a healthy stomach can do. That it digests any food, at once and completely.

Please prove this at our risk. Eat what you need of the food that you want, and note how Kodol acts. Note the absence of pain, of fermentation, of gas.

Don't doubt facts that mean a great deal to you, when they are easily proved.

There are many ways to digest part of the food, but Kodol alone digests all of it.

Pepsin digests albumen, but not starch or fat. So the many digesters depending almost solely on pepsin are only partial helps.

A complete digester must be a liquid, for some of the needed elements can't be given dry. They must be preserved in glass.

That is why Kodol is liquid, like the digestive juices. The result is, its action is instant. It opens begins in the mouth, by starting the flow of saliva.

The cure of indigestion requires, above all, that you relieve the stomach.

Codes and stimulants only spur it to action, like whipping a tired horse. Weak organs never gain strength by forcing.

But digestion is necessary, else the food grows hard and irritates the stomach lining. It ferments, and forms gas, and breeds germs. It decays, and loads the blood with poisons. And all the food that fails to digest fails to nourish you.

Your digestive powers are bound to grow weaker so long as those conditions continue.

A weak stomach must have rest. Treat it like a lame ankle. Don't tax it. Don't allow undigested food to disturb it. Let Kodol, for a little time, do the stomach's work. Then note how quickly nature cures, when it has the chance.

Some people try to relieve the stomach by dieting, but that means partial starvation.

The body requires variety in food, and when you limit that variety you are robbing some part. That isn't the way to gain strength.

A person who suffers from indigestion needs nourishment. Needs it more than a well person. The right way is to eat the food you need, then let Kodol digest it.

Please don't judge Kodol by any other form of digester. In Kodol alone are all the needed elements brought into combination. Nothing else does all that the healthy stomach will do. Nothing else brings complete relief.

Our Guarantee

The power of Kodol is easy to prove. Buy a large bottle, and ask for the signed guarantee. If it does all we claim, think what it means to you. If it doesn't, take the empty bottle back with the warrant, and your druggist will return your money.

This offer applies to the large bottle only, and to but one in a family. That is enough to prove. Then please tell your friends what a help you have found.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1.00 bottle contains 1/2 times as much as the 50c bottle.

SOLD BY J. P. BAKER AND OTHER DRUGGISTS.

clans and six of the crew overboard. There's fourteen wounded natives and five of our men in the doctor's hands. Two Alaculofs died of funk when they got eyes on the bigger who turned up in the lifeboat. They thought—Well, here's chin-chin to everybody. I'm thirsty."

CHAPTER XVI.
By the way, what of M. de Polnellit? said Courtney. "I saw him come aboard with Malcolm, but he dived into the cabin and has not reappeared. Is he lit?"

Gray's mouth set like a steel trap. His eyes had a glint in them. He seemed to be unwilling to speak. When words came they were cold and measured.

"I haven't any use for that fellow," he said. "I suppose the unpleasant story must be told sooner or later, so here goes. In the first place, Polnellit forgot that I understood Spanish, and I heard him yelling to the Chileans in the jolly boat that if we took any more people on board we should be swamped. It was he who put the notion in their heads to cast off while you were lowering Miss Darling's maid into my arms. I tried to forget that, as he was blind white with fear, and some fellows are not responsible for their actions when their liver melts. But I can never forget his action on the island. Yesterday morning I was just in time to stop him and four others from sneaking off in the lifeboat with all our provisions."

Courtney's face hardened too. "Necessity may have no laws," said he, "but I fancy I should have found a code to meet his case."

"I have organized a vigilance committee in my time, and its articles of faith of fitted in," was the American's quiet reply. "That is why I have a few recent knife cuts distributed about my skin. I began to shoot, and we were two short on the muster roll next day. So Polnellit ran and fell on his knees. So did a skunk of an Italian, and I did not want to waste cartridges. They were tied back to back until we sailed today."

"And the fifth?"

"The fifth was a woman."

They talked until daylight; then Courtney turned in. He did not appear on deck again until noon. By that time the Kansas had lost all marks of the night excepting the smashed windows, and a sailor who understood the glazier's art was replacing the broken glass. Making the found of the ship, the captain found Elsie sitting with Isabel and Mrs. Somerville on the promenade deck. She was blinding Joey's foot, and he knew then why the dog had scampered off on three legs as soon as the cabin door was opened.

Lifting his cap, with a smile and a general "Good morning," he bent over Elsie.

"Well," he said, "surely you owe me at least one kiss."

If her cheeks were red before, they became scarlet now. But his kindling glance had warned her that he would adopt no pretense, so she lifted her face to his, though she did not dare to look at her amazed companions. Courtney explained matters quite coolly.

"If Elsie has not told you already it is my privilege to announce that she and I have signed articles," he said, with a smile. "That is, we intend to get married as soon as the ship reaches England."

"Indeed, I congratulate you both most heartily," said the physician's wife. (To be Continued.)

Try Preventics, At My Risk With Book on Colds.

Just to prove merit—to show you how quickly Preventics can and will check colds or the Grippe—I will mail you free on request these samples and my book. Simply address—Dr. A. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Preventics are thoroughly harmless little Candy Cold Cure tablets. No Quinine, no laxative, nothing sickening whatever. To check early Colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is surely safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterward. Preventics will however rarely cause a deeply seated cold. But taken early—at the sincere stage—they break or head off these early colds. That is surely better—that is why they are named "Preventics." Promptness however is all-important. Promptness in the use of Preventics may save half your usual sickness. Feverishness, night or day, with cold or adult, suggests the need of Preventics. Write Dr. Shoop, Racine Wis., today for samples and booklet. Preventics are sold by BADGER DRUG CO.

ITALY'S WAR FLEET

Picture on the left shows a typical street scene at Constantinople, Turkey. The Duke of Abruzzi, on the left above and Ahmed Hamid II, the present sultan of Turkey, below.

Rome, May 4.—The government issued two official communiques.

The first denied the report that Germany has raised obstacles to Italy's peaceful penetration of Tripoli.

The second announced that three naval divisions were about to sail for the Levant to assist in the inauguration of Italian post offices. It was added that when they arrived, Italy would address a note to the powers which will be followed by an ultimatum to Turkey, based on the recent murder at Derma of an Italian priest, for which Turkey has hitherto refused to give satisfaction.

It will be recalled that the existence of foreign post offices has for a long time been a sore point with the Turks, who claim that they are now perfectly able to conduct their own postal administration independently.

The ports recently refused Italy's proposal to open new offices at Constantinople, Smyrna, Jerusalem, and Salonika, but agreed to tolerate those existing prior to 1904. This is what attracted Italy to the present action.

The priest who was murdered was Father Giustino Paoletti. He was killed in March of this year. The Italian consular judge at Constantinople started for Derma on April 4 to investigate the affair. The Turkish and Italian versions are different.

The squadron comprised twelve battleships, including the Regina Elena, which was commanded by the Duke of Abruzzi. It concentrated at Gecik and would have sailed probably for Smyrna.

Admiral Gronot, who commanded the squadron, conferred with the ministers of marine and foreign affairs. It was expected that the mere presence of this fleet in Turkish waters would induce Turkey to make a settlement, but Turkey backed down by the mere mention of the possibility of the fleet coming.

Popinjay.
The popinjay was a figure of a bird shot at for practice. The jay was decked with parti-colored feathers so as to resemble a parrot, and, being suspended on a pole, served as a target. He whose ball or arrow brought down the bird by cutting the string by which it was hung received the proud title of "Capt. Popinjay" for the rest of the day, and was escorted home in triumph.—New York American.

Could Do Them Better.
A school superintendent says that there are three things that almost any one thinks he can do better than the persons who are doing them, and they are: running a newspaper, running a street railroad and teaching school.

would induce Turkey to make a settlement, but Turkey backed down by the mere mention of the possibility of the fleet coming.

Dreadful.
Peasants are looking forward to the time when there will be none but pay-as-you-enter boarding houses in this country.

GALE DISTURBS BATTLESHIPS.

Serious Accident Narrowly Averted in Harbor at Monterey.

Monterey, Cal., May 4.—A north-west gale sweeping into the harbor gave the eight ships of the second division of the Atlantic fleet several hours of watchfulness Saturday night and cut off all communication with the shore. A serious accident was narrowly averted when the battleship Illinois, second in line from the Alabama, flagship of Rear Admiral Sperry, parted her anchor chain in the height of the blow and went drifting toward the shore. The Illinois headed directly for the Alabama and it looked for a time as though a collision was imminent. But the helmsman managed to steer the drifting ship away and the only damage done was the tearing away of the port gangway of the Alabama. The Illinois drifted fully 800 yards before her emergency anchors, sent spinning into the white-capped waters, finally held fast.

Warnings for the Wise.
You know the first sign-post of the great main road? "When a woman advertises that she is virtuous, a man that he is a gentleman, a community that it is loyal or a country that it is law-abiding—go the other way!"—Rudyard Kipling.

Not the Real Thing.
"So," said Miss Sharpe, "this is your diamond engagement ring, eh? When Mr. Cheepley gave this to you it must have flattered you." "Flattered me?" queried Miss Gull. "Yes; you know they say 'flattery is the sincerest flattery.'"—Philadelphia Press.

Natural Beautifier.
A woman writer who is an expert on the subject declares housework gives woman a beautiful figure and a peachy and cream complexion. Cut the above out and paste it on your wife's mirror. It may also improve your figure—at the bank.
